The Concert:

Mónica Naranjo

January 23, 10pm
Magma Arts and Convention Centre, Costa Adeje

Singer Mónica Naranjo will be presenting her latest show, the MN Adagio Tour exclusively in Tenerife, produced by Dark Producciones.

The show, in which she will be accompanied by the Madrid Symphony Film Orchestra, will take place at the Magma Arts and Congress Centre in Costa Adeje.

Last summer, Mónica captivated audiences in Tenerife with her album Tarántula. Now she will return with her latest album Adagio which includes versions of her most well known songs, summing up her 15 year career during which she has published six albums.

Her idea to go on tour backed by a symphony orchestra grew from an interest in expanding her repertoire, giving a new intensity to her existing songs, and allowing her to put her heart and soul into them once again.

Monica was born in Figueras, Spain and is well known as the Panther of Figueras.

Aliens on stage

Wingate Infants perform

The staff couldn't believe it had been a year since the last Christmas play, but sure enough, here we were trying to sort out this year's plot, our cast, songs to sing, how to fit 80 children on the stage and did we have enough tea towels for the shepherds costumes!!

This year, our play was Christmas with the Aliens, based around an alien spaceship breaking down on earth. The aliens meet some school children - on their way to school for a rehearsal of their nativity - so the aliens go along to see what Christmas is all about. The show was packed with fun songs helping to portray the Christmas story and children (with much help from parents) had done amazingly well to learn all their lines and speak with such confidence and expression.

Head of Infants Lynne Pearson said, "as I watched our play this year, I looked at the different cultures, nationalities and personalities on that stage and felt a great sense of pride that we continue this tradition. Looking at the reaction of our audiences, I'm sure they felt the same. So well done Wingate Infants!"

Well done to all involved
