

100TH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

César Manrique - Unpublished

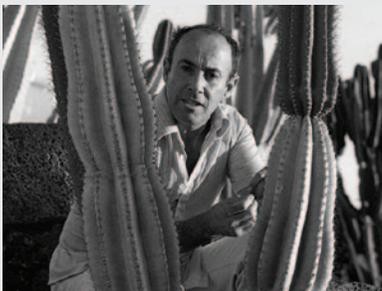

An exhibition of images by Swiss photographer Linus G. Jauslin chronicling the life of artist, architect and environmentalist César Manrique can be seen in the Convento de Santo Domingo in Teguiise until June 16.

Jauslin was a close friend of Manrique, and collected a number of photos showing him at cultural events around the Canary Islands and in Madrid and Berlin over a 20-year period, as well as many insights into his private life.

In the Manrique Inédito (Unpublished) exhibition, organised to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the artist's birth, Jauslin shows previously unpublished photographs that provide a deep insight into the life of Manrique. The documentary evidence dates back to the 1970s and begins with the opening of the Sala Andrómeda at Lago Martiánez, which was closed in September 1992, a little over a month before the artist's death.

The majority of photos give glimpses of Manrique from the perspective of the creative and private side of his life, but images of well-known works created by the artist in Lanzarote and Tenerife also form part of the exhibition.

The venue is open Monday to Friday from 10am to 2pm and 5pm to 8pm, and Sundays from 10am to 3pm. Entrance is free. More events in honour of the anniversary, some on other Canary Islands, can be found on the website www.manrique100.org.
